World Class

Unlike any other ergonomic office chair, Fern works with you—not against you—thanks to the support of its unique Wave Suspension System™. The state-of-the-art edgeless design is based in both nature and science to bring you the best ergonomic chair, providing total back support and comfort. Created for a global market, Fern was developed from 5.5 billion pressure mapping data points in comfort studies and has 117 patents, worldwide.

Nature's Design

Inspired by the masterful design of its botanical namesake, Fern feels like a natural extension of you. The flexible 3D back mimics the human form to follow your every move. Inside, Fern's Stem™ serves as a spine for a series of radiating Fronds™, each calibrated to intuitively support all the different areas of the back—from the neck to the lumbar and pelvic regions. Unassuming yet innovative, Fern brings a high level of science and engineering—enhancing comfort, well-being, engagement, creativity, and performance.

Comfort Breakthrough

Overwhelmingly chosen #1 in our comfort tests, Fern helps you focus on the task at hand. The innovative edgeless design eliminates the obstruction and discomfort of a frame, while providing the right amount of flex and resistance to intuitively support your entire back as you move. A full complement of easy-to-use ergonomic adjustments lets you to fine-tune your comfort, making Fern ideal for longer-term focused work.

Design Choices

Fern suits a breadth of application needs with a task chair, stool, or executive chair with headrest. Its soft, approachable aesthetic and broad array of finish options allow Fern to blend into any environment—or make a statement. Choose from a variety of colorful mesh, fabrics, faux leather, leather, and Haworth Digital Knit back quilting made from recycled polyester that diverts 17 plastic bottles from landfills per chair back.

Statement of line may vary by global region.

Haworth Design Studio & ITO Design

In partnership with Germany's ITO Design, Haworth Design Studio took a global, human-centered approach to the creating the world's best sitting experience. Through a brilliant combination of science and nature, the collaboration resulted in a unique, research-based, intuitive design that's made to fit every body in comfort.
